

Simplified Medical Report

This is AI generated information and not medical advice. Please consult a healthcare professional for medical advice.

Medicines:

- Paracetamol
- Insulin
- Cough Syrup

Purpose:

Paracetamol is typically used for pain relief and reducing fever. Insulin is used to control blood sugar levels in people with diabetes. Cough Syrup is generally used to relieve cough symptoms.

Dosage Instructions:

Paracetamol 500mg: Take once weekly. Insulin: 2 tablets after meals. Cough Syrup: Apply externally.

Warnings & Side Effects:

- Paracetamol: Overdose can cause liver damage.
- Insulin: Incorrect dosage can lead to hypoglycemia or hyperglycemia.
- Cough Syrup: Typically not applied externally; consult a doctor for correct usage.